

LATEST FROM OREGON.

Through the politeness of Mr. H. Watson, of Missouri, who arrived here on the steamer Ohio yesterday, we have been put in possession of the following interesting items of news: Mr. Watson left Oregon City the 25th of June last.

Gen. Lane, the Governor of Oregon, had left the city on the 1st of June with 75 Kitlata Indians and a few regulars, for Rogue River, on an exploring expedition, and also for the purpose of making a treaty with the Rogue River Indians, who have lately been committing robberies and depredations on the emigrants. Gen. Lane's party had proceeded as far as the South Fork of the Umpqua River, where gold dust was discovered in quantities on the bars of the river. Here the party stopped and went to mining. As they had but few utensils, however, they only averaged about $10 per day. Great excitement prevailed in Oregon in regard to the flattering rumors of the existence of great quantities of gold in the Spokan country, north of the Columbia, which had been confirmed. Great numbers had left for the mines.

Portland, the head of ship navigation, is improving very rapidly, and it is said will soon take the lead of Oregon City. The new wheat crop looked remarkably well. So prolific is the soil that three crops of wheat had been raised from the first sowing. It had rained nearly all the month of June, which was very unusual, and highly favorable to the country. But few farms are cultivated, the emigrants preferring to work at the mines, although a portion commanded $8 per bushel, and few to be had.

Laborers command $6 per day, and carpenters from $10 to $12, and frequently cannot be obtained for that. Lieut. Col. Crittenden had been court-martialed and acquitted. [N. O. Pic.]

Navy.—Commodore George C. Read, who, a few weeks ago, relieved Commodore Jacob Jones as Governor of the Naval Asylum at Philadelphia, has been detached from the command of the Asylum and appointed to the command of the Navy Yard and Station at Philadelphia.
